

About the Educational Testing Service (ETS)

The Educational Testing Service (ETS) was founded in 1947 as a nonprofit organization which advances quality and equity in education for people worldwide by creating assessments based on rigorous research. Today, ETS is known for its commitment to sound research, advancing learning and increasing opportunities for students internationally.

ETS develops, administers and scores more than 50 million tests annually — including the TOEFL® and TOEIC® tests, the GRE® General and Subject Tests and the Praxis Series™ assessments — in more than 180 countries, at more than 9,000 locations worldwide.

In addition to assessments, ETS conducts educational research, analysis and policy studies and develops a variety of customized services and products for teacher certification, English language learning and elementary, secondary and postsecondary education.

ETS serves individual students, their parents, educational institutions and government agencies by:

- Listening to educators, parents and critics
- Learning what students and their institutions need
- Leading in the development of new and innovative products and services

More than 2,800 employees work at ETS's offices throughout the United States and the world. ETS experts in research and assessment help individuals, educators and government agencies around the world find new ways to advance learning through customized, innovative assessment solutions.

Every test ETS produces must meet the exacting criteria of its Standards for Quality and Fairness. These standards reflect ETS's commitment to producing fair, valid and reliable tests that can stand up to the most intense scrutiny, either in the courtroom or in the court of public opinion.
