INVITATION

“The English Book – Oxford Day 2013”

Dear students,

It is our great pleasure to invite you to “The English Book – Oxford Day 2013”.

The English Book has been organising seminars and workshops for English language teachers for over sixteen years now. During this period we have welcomed some of the most important people in the field of EFL teaching, and a great number of teachers have had the opportunity to listen to them in our seminars (http://www.flickr.com/photos/the_english_book/sets/).

We believe in importance of professional development from the very beginning which is why students are welcome at our conferences.

This is an important event which will bring to one place more than 1500 teachers from all over the region. It will also be a fantastic opportunity to hear some of the most important people of ELT today.

It is a great privilege to have world known speakers at our event:

- professor David Crystal, OBE, one of the most influential linguists of all time
<http://www.davidcrystal.com/>
- Adrian Tennant, a teacher, teacher trainer and author

- Jan Blake, one of Europe’s leading storytellers who has been performing world wide since 1986 <http://www.settlestories.org.uk/node/40>

At the beginning of “The English Book – Oxford Day 2013” the audience will be addressed by high representatives from the Ministry of Education, Science and Technological Development, Faculty of Philology Belgrade, British Embassy and British Council Serbia.

In order to make this event even more special, we have decided to pay respect to the 50th anniversary of The Beatles’ first album with a little surprise left for the end of the conference.
